The work of Winemilier and Phe'ps, for the Mutes, was a revelation. Time and again the former was used in the revolving wedge for substantial gains, seldom falling to gain the desired distance. After Georgetown's last kick-off he was given the ball seven times and gained a total of thirty-eight yards. Phelps, too, made several good gains

Phelps Excellent Judgment.

He quickly picked out the weak spots on the opposing eleven and hammered them with good results. His foxiness gained the Mutes five yards on three occasions. He gave instructions to his center to make a shight movement as if to pass the ball, but to held it. Each time it was tried, the Georgetown forwards broke through the line and Gal.

Third time Georgetown was off-side. It was the first time Washington and Jefferson had been scored against this season. The referee just before going down and out gave the game to West Virginia.

Taxman at 40 to 1 a Good Thing in the Opening Race—Favorite Won the Steeplechase.

It was a sensational afternoon in many ways at the Benning race course yesterday. In the first place, the Grand Consolation Stakes, which was the extraordinary feature of the day's pro-gram, and of the meeting, resulted in an upset, and, inc:dentally, disclosed an emphatic reversal of form on the part of the winner, Orthodox. Last Thursday Orthodox started in a six-and-a-half-furlong race and was heavily played by the public. Wonderly, who was in the saddle, could get no speed out of his mount, and at the finish the horse was beaten disgracefully by Ort Wells and two ordinary two-yearolds, Champlain and Sals. This per-formance caused a great deal of com-ment, and it was said that the owner of Orthodox was deeply disgruntled over the manner in which his horse was han-

Day's Results.

A summary of the day's racing follows:

First race The members of the Eastern team are by far the youngest and lightest of any eleven in the history of the high schools, and even its most ardent admirers expected to see Technical win by at least thirty-five or forty points. The Tech players outweighed them about fifteen pounds to the man, but succeeded in plowing through their opponents' line on occasions few and far between. Most of their gains were made on run ends and formations of the Eastern team are by far the youngest and lightest of any the betting, their supporters offering odds of 3 to 1 to 5 to 1 up to the time the path was called. Experts backed the Indians as sure winners.
